

TGI Fridays Statement on Restaurants in Russia

March 11, 2022

As the conflict and humanitarian crisis in Ukraine continues, TGI Fridays stands with the people of Ukraine. As a brand that's rooted in bringing people of all backgrounds together, we remain hopeful that a peaceful solution can be found to this unprovoked aggression against the people of Ukraine.

The decision of whether the TGI Fridays restaurants in Russia, which are owned by independent franchisees, stay open can only be made by local franchisees. We have made the decision to donate any proceeds that we receive as part of our franchisee fees to Mercy Chefs which is providing food and water to both refugees fleeing Ukraine and those suffering inside the country.
